

April 7, 2003

2003 PULITZER NOMINATING JURORS
IN LETTERS, DRAMA AND MUSIC

1. FICTION

*Gail Caldwell, chief book reviewer, The Boston Globe (chair)
Joel Conarroe, president, PEN American Center, and former president, John Simon
Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, New York City
David Gates, senior editor, Newsweek

2. DRAMA

Linda Winer, drama critic, Newsday (chair)
Misha Berson, drama critic, The Seattle Times
Dominic Papatola, chief drama critic, St. Paul Pioneer Press
Bruce Weber, theater critic, The New York Times
Edwin Wilson, professor and director, Martin E. Segal Theater Center, CUNY

3. HISTORY

*William H. Goetzmann, Jack S. Blanton, Sr. Chair in History, University of Texas,
Austin (chair)
Michael J. Birkner, Benjamin Franklin Professor of Liberal Arts, Gettysburg College
Jean Harvey Baker, professor of history, Goucher College

4. BIOGRAPHY

Sissela Bok, writer and philosopher, Cambridge, Mass. (chair)
David M. Oshinsky, George Littlefield Professor of History, University of Texas, Austin
*Stacy Schiff, biographer, New York City

5. POETRY

Helen Vendler, Porter University Professor, Harvard University (chair)
Robert Pinsky, poet, Cambridge, Mass.
Stephen Yenser, professor of English, University of California, Los Angeles

6. GENERAL NONFICTION

Richard Bernstein, book critic, The New York Times (chair)
Diane Ackerman, author and visiting scholar, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.
Patricia Limerick, professor of history and environmental studies, chair of the Board and faculty director, Center of the American West, University of Colorado, Boulder

7. MUSIC

*John Harbison, composer and institute professor, MIT (chair)
David Baker, distinguished professor of music and chair of the jazz department, Indiana University
*Justin Davidson, music critic, Newsday
Stephen Hartke, professor of music composition, University of Southern California
*Joseph Schwantner, composer and adjunct professor of music, Yale University

*Pulitzer Prize winner