

THE PULITZER PRIZES 2008 LETTERS, DRAMA AND MUSIC JURORS

1. Fiction

Elizabeth Taylor, book critic, Chicago Tribune
Francine Prose, author and critic, New York City
Oscar Villalon, book editor, San Francisco Chronicle

2. Drama

Peter Marks, drama critic, The Washington Post
* David Lindsay-Abaire, playwright, New York City
Jeremy McCarter, drama critic, New York Magazine
Charles McNulty, drama critic, Los Angeles Times
Lisa Portes, head of MFA Directing and the artistic director of Chicago Playworks for Young Audiences, The Theater School, DePaul University, Chicago

3. History

James T. Campbell, professor of Africana Studies and History, Brown University
Jill Lepore, professor of history, Harvard University
* David Maraniss, author and associate editor, The Washington Post

4. Biography

H.W. Brands, Dickson Allen Anderson Centennial Professor, Department of History, University of Texas, Austin
* Stacy Schiff, author and essayist, New York City
* William Taubman, Bertrand Snell Professor of Political Science, Amherst College

5. Poetry

* Claudia Emerson, professor of English, Arrington distinguished chair in poetry, University of Mary Washington, Fredericksburg, VA
Wesley McNair, poet, Mercer, Maine
* Natasha Trethewey, professor and Phillis Wheatley distinguished chair in poetry, Emory University

6. General Nonfiction

* Steve Coll, president, New America Foundation
Robert Lee Hotz, science columnist, The Wall Street Journal
James Sheehan, professor emeritus, Stanford University

7. Music

Ingrid Monson, Quincy Jones professor of African-American Music and department chair, Music Department, Harvard University

Dwight Andrews, composer and associate professor, music theory and jazz studies, Emory University
Steven Blier, faculty member, Juilliard, and artistic director and co-founder, New York Festival of Song, New York City

* Tim Page, music critic, The Washington Post

* Steven Stucky, composer and Given Foundation Professor of Composition, Cornell University

*Pulitzer Prize winner